

THE FUTURE OF JUSTICE

How Technology is Shaping The Dispute Resolution Ecosystem

July 26th, 2011, 10AM EDT

 A Webinar brought to you by
The Internet Bar Organization

BE A PART OF THE GLOBAL COMMUNITY SHAPING NEW BUSINESS MODELS FOR TECHNOLOGY-MEDIATED DISPUTE RESOLUTION

A technology-assisted justice system is taking shape around us. What began as e-filing and online docketing has transitioned into technology allowing the average citizen to create complex legal documents, crowdsourcing legal information, and lawyers and clients sharing documents, working, and strategizing together on virtual platforms. These developments have merely touched the surface of technology's influence on dispute resolution, the practice of law, and the justice system as a whole.

Program participants will gain greater understanding of the past, present and future of online justice systems, how international organizations, NGOs, and the private sector are positioning themselves to shape the system, and how their businesses will be impacted as a result.

Who should participate:

Lawyers and Mediators: Learn about innovations in the legal industry and how to optimize your practice using technology to prevent, negotiate, and settle disputes in real-time and in a collaborative and time-sensitive manner.

Government officials: Learn to more effectively use resources to build efficiencies into your current systems, increase public participation, and build consensus.

Social Justice Practitioners: Learn how the quickly growing field of online dispute resolution can help to bridge the justice and technology divide, facilitate micro-commerce, and grow markets.
